Do Bears Zoom?

"Judy! Do you also have a large black dog?" was the question that caused a recent Library Trustee subcommittee meeting to pause for a few minutes. Everyone who has used Zoom to meet with people online has probably seen family dogs wandering in and out, or cats jumping up in front of the camera during a meeting. At this meeting, we were treated to a view of the black bear who often visits the home of a Board member! Chickens secured, the meeting resumed.

Census 2020

If you own a building that is not a full time residence, you still need to file a census report on it and tell them there are Zero residents. That will save workers time calling or visiting to get the information. Seasonal homeowners can call in their information 844-330-2020. If you received the paper questionnaire at your seasonal home, you only need to answer the questions on the first page, and send it in.

You can also file online at census.gov.
